Hello and Welcome!

This is the new working space for the DL Community.

The Teaching and Learning Distance Learning (DL) group originated from several vibrant collaborative efforts and conversations at the Sakai 2010 Conference in Denver, CO. The group's goals include an open sharing of resources, ideas and practices surrounding the myriad of diverse topics of Distance Learning. As the first major initiative the DL group has begun a practice of having different institutions share some of their practices with the community, ranging from Faculty Development to their unique Sakai usage.
