

Kernel 1 (K1)

Kernel 1 (K1)

Since Sakai 2.6 the core framework services in Sakai 2 have been extracted into a separate project with it's own release cycle. This re-organization was done to provide a more stable back-end on which Sakai 2x can be built.

Team

The following community members currently comprise the K1 team. If you have experience working with Sakai core services and are interested in either submitting patches or becoming an active K1 committer please contact Anthony Whyte. Joining the team requires approval by the current membership but don't let that requirement prevent you from expressing interest.
